Contributors will be charged a handling fee, for the KYC/AML onboarding and regulatory responsibility at BTCSAG, of 1.25% when sending ETH in to the Smart Contract Solution, which is then transferred to BTCSAG.

Onboarding

The BTCSAG Compliance department may ask the Contributor to provide various documents for the purpose of KYC and AML procedures. The Contributor grants BTCSAG permission to use and share the collected information, by BTCSAG, for regulatory and compliance purposes (e.g. for the involved bank or financial intermediaries) and with Melonport .

BTCSAG reserves the right to unilaterally turn down any request for a business relationship, if BTCSAG so wishes.

Token Receiving Address / Contribution Address

The Contributor is responsible for providing BTCSAG with a valid and compatible Token Receiving Address / Contribution Address when registering for the Melonport sub-contribution capsule Paros, through the BTCSAG platform.

The Contributor confirms to only use and register an address from a wallet following all requirements communicated from the side of Melonport as a Token Receiving Address / Contribution Address, and that the Contributor is the controlling party and beneficial owner of the wallet.

The Contributor understands and acknowledge that providing a Token Receiving Address / Contribution Address which does not comply with any requirements communicated from the side of Melonport can result in loss of tokens and/or funds, and that BTCSAG can not be held liable. The Contributor also understands that safekeeping of the private key/mnemonic phrase is of the utmost importance.

Further, the Contributor guarantees the he/she is the only beneficial owner of the wallet associated with the provided address. If there are more beneficial owners to the funds, this must be disclosed and approved by BTCSAG.

The Contributor accepts and acknowledges that BTCESAG under no circumstances can be held liable for any losses or damages caused by an invalid, non-compatible, or in any other way not-functioning Token Receiving Address / Contribution Address being provided to BTCESAG, by said Contributor.

Further, the Contributor accepts and acknowledges that BTCESAG's exemption of liability as described above also extends to token distributions facilitated by others where BTCESAG is not involved in any way, including any contribution smart contract.

It is the responsibility of the Contributor that the requirements are met. If they are not met, BTCESAG has no liability towards any losses sustained by the Contributor hereof.

BTCESAG has no responsibility towards the Contributor in regards to token distribution. This is a Smart-Contract driven process.

Liabilities

BTCESAG is responsible for the proper accounting of — and regulatory compliance/AML, in regards to Swiss rules and regulations of all contributions and associated transactions.

BTCESAG holds no other liabilities towards contributors than the above mentioned. BTCESAG is acting merely as a financial intermediary and KYC/AML provider, between the Contributor and Melonport.

BTCESAG does in no way hold any liabilities in regard to promises made by Melonport, nor do it endorse the project or have any opinion in regard to its merits.

The Contributor acknowledge, understand and accepts that contributions to crypto-projects are always risky endeavors, which are usually characterized by high probability of failure and equally high potential results. The Contributor acknowledges to have done detailed and extensive due diligence on the project Melonport, the company, as well as the organizations, all terms, details and people behind.

Established crypto-assets themselves are already highly volatile and risky assets. Contribution-offerings of tokens and/or cryptocurrencies are yet very unproven and must always be classified as extremely as offering of volatile and risky assets!
